

Boxcar Services announces site redesign

Thursday, 14 February 2008

FEBRUARY 18, 2008

WEST BROOKFIELD, MASS. — Boxcar Services LLC announced the launch of its latest website, designed to provide leading-edge solutions to an ever-growing base of customers.

Located at www.boxcarservices.com, the new BXCX site features dynamic elements to allow railcar lessees, lessors, and shippers alike to search available inventory, track trends, and communicate their railcar or system needs effectively with BCSX personnel.

"We're thrilled with the new site," said Dan Bigda, president of Boxcar Services LLC. "With the ever-more-competitive market for railcar leasing and representation, we have to stay one step ahead of our competition, while providing our growing customer base with everything they expect from a top-tier service provider."

Features include an easy-to-navigate database of railcar types under representation by BXCX; quick-glance car inventory modules to help save time; a sleek, contemporary interface designed to focus the attention on the car inventory, not the site itself; and customized RSS feeds and email alerts to inform interested parties as to the availability of specific car types..

"By taking steps to improve our customers' online search experience for railcar inventory, we show current and potential customers alike how serious Boxcar Services is in the hunt for their business," said Bigda. "We plan to stay three steps ahead of our competition at all times, and this site is just another example of that."

Boxcar Services LLC is a Massachusetts-based limited liability company focused on railcar inventory and financial solutions for the rail shipping and logistics sectors. Visit the company at <http://www.boxcarservices.com>.